Settlement in York

The Vikings invaded York in November, AD 866. At the time, York was the capital of the Anglo-Saxon kingdom of Northumbria. There are several reasons why the Vikings chose York as a settlement.

- Northumbria was in the midst of civil war making invasion easier.
- The city was very prosperous making it an attractive place to trade.
- They didn't have far to travel to York after arriving on the east coast by longship.

Viking Invasion

The Vikings had left Scandinavia to set out on expedition to raid and settle in Britain.

The Vikings were great traders and skilled seafarers. They were skilled at farming, fishing, craft work and hunting.

The Early Vikings

The Vikings came from the modern Scandinavian countries of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. They travelled in boats called longships and first arrived in Britain around AD 787. The Vikings raided places such as monasteries and pillaged expensive items to trade. They were looking for valuable goods like gold and jewels, imported foods and other useful materials.

The Vikings also wanted to claim land and tried to take over much of Britain. They invaded and settled in Scotland before heading south to places such as York. By AD 878 the Vikings had settled permanently in Britain.
